

Acquisition of Belstone Dart International

Physical Risk Solutions (PRS) has completed the acquisition of Belstone Dart International (BDI), a leading international risk management company who specialise in consulting, intelligence, risk management and capacity building.

PRS CEO Richard Wilson commented, “we have found the perfect partner in BDI and the acquisition marks a key milestone in the growth of both companies. The BDI brand is strong and will continue. The combined resources of both companies and rapidly expanding footprint will add significant capability and contingency options for our clients. We will build on the strength of both companies and utilise the vast experience, talent and professionalism of our increased employee base to remain at the forefront of our business”.
