

Dan Hooton – Managing Director Spearfish

Dan is the Managing Director of Spearfish Security Ltd, a consultancy specialising in security advice and risk management across Sub-Saharan Africa and South Asia. Since leaving the Armed Forces in 2001, he has gained wide experience as a consultant, corporate practitioner, and company director. Helping businesses and individual's flourish in high-risk environments has become his speciality, having advised many different organisations in a wide variety of risks. Dan is also the Chairman of the Risk and Security Management Forum and serves as a Trustee for the Future Terrain charity. He has previously been a member of the ASIS Chapter 208 board whilst he was the Group Head of Operational Security at Prudential PLC.

I would like to serve on the Executive Committee to ensure that the SME'S of the consulting market are well represented and served as we push our industry forward in terms of fair competition and better standards for all. I firmly believe that the quality and reputation of our membership is second to none and I would like to make sure we continue to develop and speak about what we do to maintain our place in the global market.
