

Liam Kelly, Chief Operating Officer, G4S Risk Management Ltd

Liam has been employed by G4S in a variety of roles since leaving the military in September 2011, upon completion of 25 years service. Prior to his current COO appointment, he was the Managing Director of G4S Secure Solutions (Afghanistan) primarily involved in supporting multiple diplomatic and commercial entities all over Afghanistan.

Since joining G4S, Liam's experiences and appointments have varied from operating at the coal face tactical level in a variety of complex environments (Afghanistan, Iraq, Lebanon, South Sudan, Mali, DRC, Sierra Leone, Somalia, Ukraine) to being appointed a Director and forming part of the executive leadership team.

Liam is passionate about the effective management of risk, ethical conduct and operational safety ensuring all opportunities for improvement are fully exploited - Safety First.

He enjoys spending much of his downtime with his family participating in outdoor activities whilst running around after their two Springer Spaniels, one of which is a retired explosive detector dog who was returned to the UK with the rest of the G4S expatriate staff during the withdrawal from Kabul in August 2021.