

Charles Anderson, Global Lead of Operations (Risk, Intelligence, & Sustainability), Pilgrims RM

Global Lead (Risk, Intelligence & Sustainability) at Pilgrims, responsible for Risk and Intelligence services and their operational delivery, and companywide ESG strategy. My team provides intelligence reporting, threat and risk assessments, cyber/physical penetration testing, crisis management, embedded consultancy, and executive protection to clients worldwide. I also lead our Sustainability, ESG, and audit programmes, ensuring compliance across ISO standards and industry best practice.

Pilgrims is a UK-based global security and risk management company supporting a very varied client base, often in complex and high-threat environments. We provide four core business lines, with a multitude of different service offerings, Guarding, Training, Risk and Intelligence services, and Global Operations.

Before joining Pilgrims, I held leadership roles in McLaren Racing and served in the British Army as both a Soldier and Commissioned Officer. This has given me both operational and strategic insight across the public and private sector.

As an EC member, I will bring strategic vision, operational depth, and a strong commitment to high standards. I am passionate about the role SCEG plays in shaping responsible private security. I'm particularly interested in helping develop guidance and alignment on operations, sustainability, and standards. Ensuring SCEG remains a credible and forward-thinking industry voice.
